ACADEMIC PROJECTS HANDLED

Transformer overheat detection using Arduino.

In this project, we achieved Transformer over-heat reduction using DHT:11 Humidity Sensor.

With the help of this sensor, we can monitor the heat inside the transformer, and we can set a threshold if the temperature reached the threshold we can identify the windings inside the transformer may have some issues.

Another sensor we use in this project is an Ultrasonic sensor which helps to identify the oil level inside the Transformer and the level of oil inside the transformer will be shown in the LCD Display we used in this project.
